Testing is performed according to the list of methods approved by DANAK.

The accreditation is valid from this day until 31-01-2018. Surveillance visits will be conducted by DANAK with intervals of approximately 12 months.

Accreditation is granted with reference to the Danish Safety Technology Authority's statutory order no. 913 of 25 September 2009 on accreditation of companies.

The company shall at any time fulfil the current accreditation criteria and conditions for the accreditation, which appear from DANAK's homepage, and are informed separately to the company by DANAK. A list of the current accreditation criteria and conditions for the accreditation is attached as appendix 2.

Further, the following specific conditions apply for the accreditation:

1. Specific conditions:

The laboratory shall within 1 month provide a copy of the first accredited report holding the DANAK mark (will be provided electronically) and the report shall reveal proper reporting of uncertainty as described in discrepancy no. 11. Further the laboratory shall make all contractual arrangements in order for surveillance to be made before 1. October 2014.

2. The accreditation concerns the company situated at the address

*Novosibirsk Interregional Veterinary Laboratory
167, Nemirovich-Danchenko Street
RU-6330 Novosibirsk
Russia*

3. The company shall inform DANAK on all conditions which influence or may influence the basis for accreditation such as insolvency, suspension on payments or bankruptcy. Lack of information to DANAK is, depending on the circumstances, considered as missing fulfilment of the conditions for the accreditation, i.e. non-fulfilment of the accreditation.

The company shall cooperate with DANAK to such an extent that DANAK can assess if the accreditation criteria are fulfilled.

The company shall not use the accreditation in such a way that it will bring discredit on DANAK or the accreditation system.

The company can at any time in writing request DANAK for temporarily suspension of the accreditation or part of it. After this, accredited services must not be performed or reported within the concerned scope of the accreditation. During suspension of the accreditation, surveillance visits will not be conducted.

The company can with six months notice in writing suspend the accreditation in whole or in part of it. If the company does not want renewal of the accreditation at expiry, DANAK in writing shall be informed at the latest six months before the expiry date.
